Kuwait Says It Will Fight Iraq Claims

British Support
Sheikdom; Arab League Concerned

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—With British backing, the fabulously rich sheikdom of Kuwait declared Monday night it will fight Iraq's attempt at annexation. Arab League nations were reported gravely concerned over the Iraqi claim and Kuwait's future.

Iraq denounced a British pledge to defend Kuwait and reasserted its claim of sovereignty over the Persian Gulf territory.

A dispatch from Kuwait said Iraq's move had prompted British warships and soldiers to postpone their departure from the former British protectorate.

The Kuwaiti government in a confidently worded communique released here said it "is convinced that friendly and peace-loving countries, especially sister Arab states, will support Kuwait in preserving her independence."

Nasser Silent
There was no immediate public reaction from a significant Arab source—Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic—but there were indications that Iraq would find little support, if any, in the troubled Middle East for its claim on Kuwait.

Baghdad radio said Iraq's ambitious revolutionary premier, Abdel Karim Kassem, had sent a note to all foreign and Arab diplomatic missions in Baghdad stressing his "firm determination to preserve the unity of all people in Iraq and Kuwait." Kassem called Kuwait "an integral part of the Iraqi motherland."

The same Iraqi note attacked last week's agreement by which Britain granted Kuwait independence.

The Iraqi note charged the June 19 agreement between Britain and Kuwait granted only nominal independence. It called the new agreement "imperialist" and expressed Iraq's confidence that "imperialism will be liquidated in Kuwait in a day to come soon," the radio said.

Embarrassing Question

In Cairo Arab sources said Kassem's claim posed an embarrassing question to the Arab League in general and to Nasser in particular. Solid official silence greeted the news from Baghdad, but Nasser already had congratulated Kuwait on its independence.

Kassem's move caught the Arab League secretariat amid preparations to consider Kuwait's application for membership as a sovereign nation. An Arab spokesman said the league had not officially received word of the Iraqi claim.

Kuwait, whose oil wealth earns its ruler $3 million a day, made its stand clear after consultations with British officials.

Seven Little Sisters Orphaned By Crash

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Eleanor Schaefer, 9, turned her troubled brown eyes on her grandmother Monday and asked: "Who's going to provide for us?"

"Don't worry dear," replied Kate Schaefer, 62. "A way will be found."

In just over three months Eleanor and her six sisters have lost both their mother and father.

The mother, Eleanor, 31, died after giving birth to Georgeanne last March.

The father, George, 32, was killed Sunday afternoon when his car, for some unexplained reason, swerved to the side of the road and hit a utility pole in Philadelphia.

Still Dangerous

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Nine-year-old Leonard Balmer recently was gashed on the left leg by the teeth of a shark that was killed last year. Leonard was taking the shark's jaws to school to show them to his teacher when he slipped and fell between them.

Kennedy's Use Of T-H Angers Ship Strikers

IN U. N. SHIFT—Andrew Cordier (above) will assume new duties at the United Nations in a shakeup of the U.N. top executive leadership announced yesterday by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. Cordier, veteran American executive assistant to Hammarskjöld, becomes undersecretary in charge of general assembly and related affairs, effective Aug. 1. Most of his duties as personal chief of staff to Hammarskjöld will be taken over by C. V. Narasimhan, of India. (AP Photofax)

Castro Captives Deny They Plan U. S. Fund Drive

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The 10 anti-Castro prisoners—who arrived here Saturday from Cuba declared Monday they had not come with the intention of making an appeal for funds for tractors to ransom 1,187 of their companions.

At a hastily summoned press conference in their hotel, the prisoners also said they had no intention of speaking out to place the blame for the failure of the April 17 invasion of Cuba on the United States.

"We are not interested in discussing how we got into Cuba but only in how to get out," said Gustavo Garcia, a spokesman for the group.

When the prisoners were dispatched to the United States, Prime Minister Fidel Castro said they were coming to explain his position to the American public. There also had been reports the committee of prisoners might attempt to make a direct appeal in an effort to raise funds for the 500 bulldozers Castro had demanded in return for the captured invaders.

The prisoners committee also made a point of denying reports that their fate had been placed in the hands of President Kennedy.

At the press conference, it also was announced that John Hooker Jr., executive secretary of the defunct Tractors for Freedom Committee, would not come to Key West Monday to confer with the prisoners—as Hooker had originally said he planned to do—but that he might come Tuesday, instead. No explanation was given for the change in plans.

Highway Financing Bill Approved By Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress Monday approved a compromise bill to pour additional billions into interstate highways, by cancelling a drop in gasoline taxes and boosting levies on trucks and tire makers.

The measure, requested by President Kennedy, also provided for a two-year extension of federal bonus payments to states which curb billboards along the 41,000-mile superhighway system.

The House first passed the bill by voice vote without debate. The Senate then added its approval and sent the legislation to President Kennedy to be signed into law.

The measure is designed to keep the roadbuilding plan on a pay-as-you-go basis through the scheduled completion in 1972. However, it would provide only

President Names Three-Man Board To Probe Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, deploring the Taft-Hartley Act, invoked it anyway Monday in the hope of ending the 11-day maritime strike.

His action could send America's merchant ships to sea again in a week. The President moved in the face of some union threats that an even worse tie-up might come after the law's 80-day injunction period ends.

In an executive order, Kennedy said he felt the strike—which has tied up ships in every Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf port—would imperil the health and safety of the nation if allowed to go on.

He set up a three-man board to investigate the dispute between the Seafarers International Union and the shipowners and to report to him by Friday.

The creation of such a board is the first step under the Taft-Hartley Act's procedures for ending national emergency strikes.

Injunction Next Step

After the board reports the President can go to a federal court and ask for an injunction to end the strike for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Under the law, the federal judge must grant at least a temporary injunction. The union then can make an attempt to convince him not to make it permanent.

The unions reacted to the President's use of the Taft-Hartley Act with anger and disappointment. The shipowners appeared pleased.

Joseph Curran, president of the striking National Maritime Union, said Kennedy's action could lead to a much worse shipping strike next fall.

"Sailors can't be pushed around," Curran said. "We might hit them twice as hard after an injunction expires."

Curran claimed also that his union was near an agreement last week with shipowners but that it fell through and he feels emotion in government may have blocked it.

Union "Disappointed"

Capt. Charles Crooks, the president of the Masters, Mates and Pilots Union, said his union was "kind of disappointed" at the President's order. Crooks said the government "is in the process of bailing out the shipowners."

Ralph E. Casey, president of the American Merchant Marine Institute, which represents the shipowners, said: "Our industry will, of course, give full cooperation." Another spokesman for the institute said the President's action was "good news."

Kennedy, who had voted against the Taft-Hartley Act as a congressman in 1946, said more flexible procedures than the law are needed to handle a national strike. "This dispute presents new evidence of the imperative need for modifications in the present law," Kennedy said. "I propose to make suggestions to the Congress along these lines very shortly."

$80 Million Pipeline

GENOA, Italy (AP)—Construction of the largest oil pipeline trunk in Central Europe has begun here. The 620-mile pipeline, scheduled to be completed in 1963 at a cost of $80 million, will serve the oil refineries in Switzerland, Austria and West Germany.

Taylor Given White House Adviser Post

General Will Assist Kennedy In Military, Intelligence Fields

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, scholarly, combat-wise former Army chief of staff, was called out of retirement Monday to be President Kennedy's adviser on intelligence and military developments.

Kennedy told the four-star former paratrooper commander to report for work Saturday on his first assignment—reviewing U.S. planning in the Berlin crisis. The 59-year-old Taylor was U.S. commander in the Red-enclaved city from September, 1949, to February, 1951.

In the wake of the Cuban invasion fiasco, Kennedy summoned Taylor from his post as president of the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts in New York City to investigate U.S. guerrilla war and intelligence capabilities.

The White House said Taylor will be sort of a presidential watchdog in the intelligence field. He will make sure the Central Intelligence Agency meets the government's future needs and works closely with the President's foreign intelligence advisory board.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said that in his new job as presidential military representative, Taylor will not be interposed between Kennedy and the Joint Chiefs of Staff, National Security Council or Central Intelligence Agency. There had been reports Taylor would be placed over all other military officers.

Salinger said Taylor "will have no command authority but will have access to all information necessary for the discharge of his responsibilities to the President."

The announcement indicated Taylor would be given some overseas assignments. The White House said he would be available to represent Kennedy when the President "desires senior military representation at home or abroad."

In his new job, Taylor will return to active military service and resume his four-star rank.

$5 Billion Hike In Debt Ceiling Voted By House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House vote Monday for a $5 billion temporary increase in the national debt limit. The legislation would set the ceiling at $298 billion and make sure the Treasury can pay its bills next week.

The vote was 231-148. For hours before the House acted, sending the legislation to the Senate, Republicans raked President Kennedy's administration with charges of reckless spending. Some Democrats joined in condemning big government outlays.

The Senate is expected to act promptly on the legislation. Unless it approves it by Friday, the debt limit automatically will drop to its permanent level, $285 billion.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon has told Congress the debt at week's end will be about $4 billion higher than his figure, so reduction to the permanent figure would bring on a Treasury crisis, which Congress will not permit to develop.

The country has been operating for the past year under a $293 billion debt limit—the permanent figure plus an $8 billion increment authorized for one year only.

Navy Orders Blimp Program Shutdown

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Navy Monday ordered the end of an era which spanned nearly half a century and once held man's highest hopes for air travel.

It ordered the shutdown of its historic blimp program at Lakehurst, N.J. Eight of its 10 remaining lighter-than-air ships will be stored. All other activities will be discontinued because of a "shortage of funds and personnel." The Navy said helicopters now perform the functions of the airships.

The shutdown is to begin immediately and be completed Nov. 30. Although two airships will be kept in service temporarily for research purposes, these also eventually will be deflated and stored. Thus will come to an end a program that began on April 20, 1915.

Ike, Nixon Join In Lambasting JFK Programs

HERSHEY, Pa. (UPI)—Former President Eisenhower and ex-Vice President Richard M. Nixon unleashed a double-barreled attack on the foreign and domestic programs of President Kennedy Monday night.

Eisenhower concentrated on the domestic policies while Nixon rapped the Democrats on foreign policy.

The two former leaders spoke to a Republican rally here honoring Eisenhower, who now lives on his farm in nearby Gettysburg.

The former President hammered at deficit spending and centralization of government. He said Mr. Kennedy has called on Americans to ask "not what their country can do for them but what they can do for their country."

Then Eisenhower added: "But the administration has turned into a gigantic federal Santa Claus and we are the people dancing around the Christmas tree waiting for our presents and each package we get is marked in fine print 'You don't have to pay for this but your grandchildren will.'"

Nixon criticized the administration for its moves in Laos and Cuba.

"When the critical moment came, he (Kennedy) was not prepared to back up his strong words with action," Nixon said. However, Nixon said the President did not deserve criticism for supporting the freedom fighters in Cuba.

"The mistake was that when he made the decision to go in, not to back it up with American power," he said. "It is essential that you act just as big as you talk."

Earlier, Gen. and Mrs. Eisenhower were the recipients of gifts. Eisenhower was given a bronze bust of himself while his wife received a painting of a Pennsylvania covered bridge.

Four Killed, 29 Hurt In Glacier Ice Fall

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—The Air Defense Command (ADC) said Monday four men were killed and 29 others were injured when a huge chunk of glacier crashed down on them at the edge of the Greenland ice cap near Sondrestrom Air Base.

ADC headquarters here said only two men out of 35 on a Sunday sightseeing tour escaped injury when the falling ice chunk plunged down the side of Russell Glacier into a fjord, triggering a small avalanche.

The four victims were not identified, pending notification of next of kin.

Venezuelan Revolt Smashed; 40 Killed

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A 250-man army garrison revolted briefly Monday at Barcelona and 40 persons were reported killed. Armed civilians rose to the defense of President Romulo Betancourt.

The government announced that a show of force by a squadron of Canberrra jet bombers over the Barcelona barracks and a threat of annihilation by loyal troops and navy men contributed to the rebels' surrender.

Belancourt, whose moderate administration has been troubled by plots and demonstrations from both left and right in recent months, said the uprising lasted only 4½ hours. He described the rest of the country as quiet.

Radio Tropical of Barcelona, a commercial center of 26,000 and Anzoategui State capital, near the Caribbean, said all the rebel leaders were captured.

The Interior Ministry identified them as junior officers of the garrison plus two former majors, Ruben Maso Perdomo and Luis Alberto Vivas, dismissed from the army for previous conspiracies against Betancourt.

Gov. Rafael Solorzano Bruce of Anzoategui State announced in a telephone call to Caracas that the death toll was 40. The rebels at one point had seized the Barcelona radio station and reported they had captured the governor.

The Canberras sped aloft. Two destroyers steamed into Puerto La Cruz an oil shipping port six miles northeast of Barcelona. Detachments of loyal troops converged on Barcelona from three cities to the east and southeast—Cumaná, Maturín and Ciudad Bolívar.

The General Confederation of Workers, which supports Betancourt, called a strike in Anzoategui and instructed 8,000 of that state's oil workers to join the action against the rebels.

Interior Minister Luis Augusto

Debut said a Federal Police detachment in Barcelona remained loyal to the government and turned the city jail into a fort.

A related attempt at rebellion at La Guaira, the seaport for Caracas, was reported to have fizzled. A sublieutenant of the Federal Police led a detachment that tried to seize the electric power plant supplying Caracas, the government said, but the group was driven off.

Belancourt's regime has blamed much of the rightist opposition to his regime on followers of former dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez, now a refugee in the United States.

Suit Charges Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department Monday brought court action to end asserted discrimination against Negroes in the dining facilities at Moisant International Airport at New Orleans, La.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced the suit was brought at the U.S. District Court in New Orleans, at the request of Civil Aeronautics Board Chairman Alan S. Boyd and Administrator N. E. Halaby of the Federal Aviation Agency.

The attorney general said: "As in other cases involving discrimination we first attempted to work this out with local officials and without taking court action."

"We have not been able, however, to obtain satisfactory assurance that in the future, all facilities will be made available to the public without discrimination. As a result we have brought this action."

The General Confederation of Workers, which supports Betancourt, called a strike in Anzoategui and instructed 8,000 of that state's oil workers to join the action against the rebels.

BERLIN (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said Monday night on the 13th anniversary of the Berlin airlift that a separate peace treaty with East Germany this year was a "compulsive necessity." He boasted that Russia had the power to carry out its aims.

Khrushchev gave his newest warning to the West in a telegram to East German Chief of State Walter Ulbricht.

"The Soviet Union and all nations of the Socialist camp in the future will fight decisively for peace," Khrushchev said. "We have the power to halt all aggressors if they attempt to destroy the achievements of the Socialist nations."

He set down his Berlin views in hard language in a telegram to East German leaders thanking them for their good wishes on the 20th anniversary of the Nazi inva-

Would Permit Men To Retire At Age Of 62

Boosts Minimum Payment; Medical Care Issue Avoided

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate voted Monday to increase Social Security benefits for 4.4 million Americans and to grant men the option of retiring at age 62. They now must wait until 65.

The roll call vote was 90-0 for the bill. The legislation was on President Kennedy's 16-point priority list.

A threat to inject the controversial issue of medical care for the aged was avoided when Democratic leaders issued public assurances that the matter would be considered in this session of Congress.

The promise was given by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., chief sponsor of Kennedy's program to finance health benefits for 14.2 million elderly citizens as part of the Social Security system.

To Iron Out Differences

In return, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., agreed to withdraw a rival GOP-backed health care amendment. That put off a showdown on the issue for the time being.

The bill now goes to a joint conference committee to iron out a compromise between differing House and Senate versions.

The Senate bill would increase minimum retirement benefits under social security from $33 to $40 a month. It would hike benefits 10 per cent for widows and other persons receiving survivor payments.

In all, about 4,200,000 persons would receive an estimated $780 million in additional yearly benefits. They would start either in August or September, depending on how soon a compromise can be sent to the White House.

Under the new age option, if a male elected to retire at age 62, he would receive 80 per cent of the monthly benefits he would have gotten if he had waited until age 65. Women now have this privilege.

Adopt Major Amendment

Officials estimated that 560,000 men may take advantage of the earlier retirement in the first year.

The Senate adopted a number of amendments, but only one major. It would liberalize the amount of outside income a retired person may earn without jeopardizing his benefits.

Under present law, a Social Security recipient loses $1 in benefits for every $2 he earns over $1,200 a year and up to $1,500. Under the bill, the top limit would be hiked to $1,700.

The proposal, offered by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., was adopted 59 to 30.

The Senate rejected a bi-partisan proposal to exempt adherents of the Amish faith from Social Security taxes.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said the amendment would apply only to about 150 Amish farmers, most of them in Pennsylvania. They object on religious grounds to participating in a federal insurance plan.

Clark said persons exempted from federal payroll taxes also would receive no retirement benefits.

30 Hurt When El Trains Collide

CHICAGO (UPI)—Northbound elevated train rammed the rear of another eight-car train on Chicago's far North Side Monday night, injuring at least 30 persons and stranding thousands in homebound commuters.

The injured filled emergency rooms of four hospitals. There were no reports of fatalities and none of the injuries were believed serious.

Power was cut off after the accident and a dozen other rush hour trains were stranded.

Advanced Polaris Drops Short In Test

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The Navy fired its advanced model of the Polaris missile from a laboratory ship off the Florida coast Monday, but engine trouble dropped the rocket short of its target.

The second stage engine of the Polaris apparently cut off a few seconds too soon—enough to spell the difference between success and "partial" success.

The Navy, which has severely curtailed the amount of information released about the new Polaris, said only that a "malfunction" had developed in the second stage.

Red China Rejects Plan To Guarantee Free, Neutral Laos

GENEVA (UPI) — Red China means of guarantees for the protection of the sovereignty of the country.

Chen had accused the United States of trying to "rekindle the war in Laos" and demanded the abrogation of the SEATO pledge to protect Laos.

He did not mention Communist Vietnamese troops but said the only foreign forces causing trouble in Laos were American, South Viet, Nam Thai and remnants of Chiang Kai-shek's army left behind in Southwest China when Chiang fled to Formosa a decade ago.

American officials claim at least 1,000 North Viet Nam troops and technicians have been spotted as recently as two weeks ago in Laos. Press dispatches from Vietnam have told of North Vietnamese manning artillery against royal government positions.

Jet Fighters Collide; Pilot Of One Killed

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Two Air Force jets collided in flight Monday and the pilot of one plane was killed when unable to eject from the aircraft before it plunged to the ground.

The F104 Starfighters were believed to have collided over North Carolina at an altitude of 37,000 feet, but crashed within 20 miles of each other in this central Virginia area.

The pilot of one plane, Capt. Daniel Klix, 29, of Detroit, ejected from his damaged aircraft and parachuted to safety. But the Air Force said the ejection seat in the plane piloted by Capt. Richard Derrick, 30, of Salt Lake City, failed to fire and the pilot was killed in the crash.

Eichmann Goes Back To Bible In Citing Role

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann told an Israeli court Monday he felt no more guilt for the extermination of six million Jews than did Pontius Pilate for the crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

"I felt inside me a sort of Pilate's satisfaction, because I felt free of all guilt," he told the three Israeli judges trying him for mass murder during World War II.

Pontius Pilate was the Roman governor of Judea who gave to the people the choice of whether Christ or a notorious bandit named Barabbas should be set free. The mob called for the freedom of Barabbas and the crucifixion of Christ and Pilate delivered him over, washing his hands before them.

During the testimony Eichmann admitted he had signed orders for the execution of Jews.

But he insisted to the court he was only passing on orders from Nazi police boss Heinrich Himmler and that the orders were sent down to him through channels.

"The orders came from Himmler," he insisted.

His statement in his fifth day of defense testimony came during questioning by his defense council, Dr. Robert Servatius, on the notorious Wannsee conference in Berlin on Jan. 20, 1942, which decided on the deaths of all European Jews as the "final solution" to the "Jewish problem."

"The promulgation of the Reich spoke at the Wannsee conference," Eichmann said. "The pope was ordering and I had to obey." It was then he said he felt the "Pilate's satisfaction" which stayed with him.

Eichmann was pale and haggard Monday but he was as cocksure as ever. He stuck to his "small cog in a big machine" defense and delivered monotonous lectures to the court on the Nazi setup.

Judge Terms Lias Expulsion Grounds "Slim"

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government began anew Monday its drive to deport William G. "Big Bill" Lias, one-time West Virginia rackets king.

But a Justice Department summing up of its case against Lias drew from U. S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff the comment that the case seemed to be based on "rather slim grounds."

The trial, postponed from May 29, after Judge Joseph C. McGarrachy disqualified himself from presiding, opened with statements from attorneys, then recessed until Tuesday.

E. Riley Casey, special assistant to the attorney general, reviewed the government's contention that Lias was born in Greece and as a resident alien threw himself open to deportation by failing to notify the government of his address and failing to obtain a visa and other documents when making a visit to Canada in 1948.

Holtzoff, noting the government agreed that Lias had been living in the United States since 1909 and that the case for deportation was based on his 1948 trip out of the country, said this seemed to be "rather slim grounds for deportation."

"Perhaps, your honor, but legal," replied Casey.

"I thought there would be more serious grounds for deportation," Holtzoff said.

Casey related that Lias had been a "bootlegger, has a long criminal record and financially is in arrears to the U.S. government in back taxes to the extent of $7 million."

"But it is not open to me to consider that in this case," Holtzoff said. "A man ought to be punished for his crimes if he has committed them. But that is not what we are considering here."

It appeared that the 400-pound Lias would not be required to testify. The judge refused to quash a subpoena requested by Casey to require Lias to appear, but Casey conceded that serving the subpoena could not hold up legally when it was delivered more than 100 miles from the site of the trial.

Jack Wasserman, Lias's attorney, said he did not want Lias to be subjected to long questioning at the trial for health reasons. Wasserman said he would produce evidence to show that Lias was born in Wheeling, W. Va. and therefore was not deportable.

Grand Jurors Act To Speed Extradition

BALTIMORE (AP) — One of four Baltimoreans arrested in Miami Beach Saturday was presented by the grand jury Monday on a charge of attempting to obstruct justice.

The panel filed the action against James F. Ball, Jr., 24. It accuses him of having hidden Alfred Pittore, 27, of Baltimore, a fugitive from sentencing on a robbery charge.

Miami Beach police arrested Ball, two other men and a woman Saturday night. Capt. George Klemmick of the Baltimore homicide squad, and Lieut. Fred Dunn of the city's Southwest district flew to the resort city Sunday to question all four.

Authorities said the presentment against Ball constituted a technical charge designed to hasten his extradition from Florida.

He is wanted in Baltimore for questioning in connection with the case of Edward L. Corbi, a restaurant owner whom three gunmen accosted near his Baltimore home last May 9.

Corbi's companion, Earl Fifer, who vanished after the attempted shooting, later told police he had been abducted. The incident provoked the current grand jury probe of alleged racketeering in the city's night club district.

Senate Unit Okays Bethesda Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $2,328,000 office building project in Bethesda, Md., was among 50 approved Monday by the Senate Public Works Committee.

The committee also approved the appropriation of $47,924,000 for two projects in Washington, and $6,915,000 for one in Arlington, Va.

Funds for the construction projects already have been approved by the House Public Works Committee.

Burns Fatal To Boy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine-year-old Vernon F. Brown died Monday from burns received Friday when he grabbed an overhead trolley wire in the Pennsylvania Railroad yard.

Police said the boy was playing on top of a box car when he touched a wire carrying 11,000 volts.

Tobacco Industry Seeking Cancer Facts, Allen Says

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — The president of the Tobacco Institute said Monday his industry is "more interested than anyone else in finding out and making public the true facts" about the relation of smoking to lung cancer.

George V. Allen, former director of the United States Information Agency, said the tobacco industry believes that it has a legitimate quarrel with "those who claim, without adequate scientific support, that tobacco is the cause of this or that disease."

"We not only have the right to stand against those who seek to abolish our industry by arousing fears and doubts in the public mind which may not be justified," Allen said, "we have a higher obligation — to see that the public is not hoodwinked in any direction."

"The facts are not yet known," Allen told a meeting here of the Tobacco Association of the United States. "Consequently campaigns to destroy America's oldest industry are not justified."

Casey related that Lias had been a "bootlegger, has a long criminal record and financially is in arrears to the U.S. government in back taxes to the extent of $7 million."

"But it is not open to me to consider that in this case," Holtzoff said. "A man ought to be punished for his crimes if he has committed them. But that is not what we are considering here."

It appeared that the 400-pound Lias would not be required to testify. The judge refused to quash a subpoena requested by Casey to require Lias to appear, but Casey conceded that serving the subpoena could not hold up legally when it was delivered more than 100 miles from the site of the trial.

Jack Wasserman, Lias's attorney, said he did not want Lias to be subjected to long questioning at the trial for health reasons. Wasserman said he would produce evidence to show that Lias was born in Wheeling, W. Va. and therefore was not deportable.

Dag Names Indian To Be His No. 1 Aide

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld Monday announced promotion of an Indian aide to be his right-hand man in the U.N. secretariat, succeeding veteran U.S. diplomat Andrew W. Cordier.

Hammarskjöld told a news conference he will propose other changes by the end of the week in his program to give representatives of new African and Asian and Asian countries more top-level U.N. jobs.

C. V. Narasimhan, 46, Indian economics and social welfare expert, will assume Cordier's tasks as Hammarskjöld's executive assistant. Cordier has been named to a special post as undersecretary for General Assembly affairs, at least for the 16th session that begins Sept. 19. The changes are effective Aug. 1.

Peace Corps Training Begins For Two Groups

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — The Peace Corps came to life Monday at Rutgers University and Texas Western College. A third unit will begin training soon at the University of California's Berkeley campus.

An eager and enthusiastic group of young men began eight weeks of formal training at Rutgers for the CARE Peace Corps project for Colombia. Of the 80 signed up, 64 will be assigned to the South American country for two years to aid and instruct the rural Colombians in such tasks as building roads, drilling wells and constructing schools and sanitary facilities.

Some classes and laboratory sessions got under way immediately, but the hard core of what will be a 60-hour week starts in a few days.

This week's sessions will include physical examinations, psychological tests and orientation. The volunteers here range from 19 to 31 years and represent 25 states and the District of Columbia.

A similar training program got under way at the same time at Texas Western in El Paso. The volunteers there will be assigned to Tanganyika, Africa.

Of the 40 men who will train in 100-degree temperatures in Western Texas, Dr. Clyde E. Kelsey Jr., their training coordinator, said: "I am pleased with the group. I think the success of this project is highly indicated."

Acrobat's Aerial Tower Falls; 9 Hurt

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Nine persons were injured Monday when a 110-foot aerial tower toppled into a crowd which had been watching an acrobat perform at West View Amusement Park.

The aluminum ladder-type tower hit an amusement called "The Magic Carpet" on the way down, which gave the screaming crowd a chance to get out of the way.

Two of the injured, admitted to Bellevue Suburban Hospital in serious condition, were Celeste Farnsworth, 9, and Mrs. Martha M. McCoy, 42, both of Pittsburgh.

The tower collapsed just after the woman acrobat, who uses the name Kayletta, finished her performance and slid down a guide wire to the ground.

'Dehumanized Teaching' Blasted At NEA Meeting

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — University said teaching machines are useful only in helping students to solve problems. It is just as important for students to learn how to ask questions as to answer them, he said.

The big difference between a machine and a teacher, Dale said, is the difference between training and education. There is a great danger, he added, that "a student may believe that he has an education when he has only the 'makings' of an education."

"We are not only moving toward lockstep and conformity," he said, "but I suspect that we may be on the road to doing actual damage to children and young people."

Raubinger's charge that all classroom devices must be used as tools by the teacher rather than substitutes for him, was echoed by other convention speakers.

All hit hard at the same theme — there is no substitute for a good teacher.

Prof. William Van Til of New York University said the problem today is to educate young people who are unique individuals, characterized by individual differences and a variety of needs and interests.

"In our schools," he said, "students are often treated as though they were identical members of a vast, anonymous mass. Individuals are drowned in the tide of humanity. Personality is lost in the academic lockstep."

Van Til also told convention delegates that improper use of teaching machines and television is really not progress but a step backward. Those who would substitute machines for teachers, he said, threaten a return to the 18th century Industrial Revolution when "children were enslaved to machines."

Coal Operator, Philanthropist Dies In W. Va.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — R. M. Davis, prominent West Virginia coal operator, philanthropist and world peace advocate, died Monday while attending the funeral of a sister-in-law. He was 79.

Davis apparently was stricken with a heart attack while in Flatwoods, Braxton County, for the funeral of Mrs. Claude C. Davis.

Davis, a resident of Morgantown for many years, was active in the coal industry for 41 years until his retirement in September, 1956. He had controlling interest in the Davis Wilson Coal Co., Bunker Coal Co., Chaplain Collieries Coal Co. and other firms.

He long advocated creation of a department of peace with cabinet status in the federal government. He served as an official observer for the State Department at the formation of the United Nations at San Francisco, Calif. in 1945.

Two Seized, Pair Sought In Wild Shooting Spree

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP)—State Police captured two men and were searching for two other suspects in connection with a wild shooting spree here early Monday.

Five persons were injured when two men leaped from a car in the town's Negro district and fired shotguns into a milling crowd of about 200. Troopers said the people were leaving taverns and bars in the area shortly after midnight, the closing time.

Arrested were Lawrence Jerome Sommerville, 29, a recent parolee from the Maryland House of Correction, and Francis Norman Tyer, 32.

Sommerville of Hurryin Md, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon. St. Mary's County authorities placed two charges of assault with intent to kill and a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon against Tyer.

Still being sought were Aloysius

Tyer of Bushwood, and Aloysius Sommerville of Leonardtown.

The shooting, which police said apparently stemmed from an earlier feud, set off a series of fights in taverns and on the town's streets.

Frederick Rudolph Robinson, 19, of Piney Point, was the most seriously injured, with shotgun pellets in his right eye. He was transferred from St. Mary's Hospital to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, where his condition was listed as good.

Others injured in the early morning fracas were Francis A. Evans Jr., 23, Francis E. Young, 27, Joseph M. Curtis, 28, and James W. Swales, 20.

All were struck by pellets and treated at St. Mary's Hospital.

Airport Fuel Pipeline Slated

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad announced Monday that final studies for a pipeline to carry petroleum fuels to airports in Washington and Baltimore areas are being made.

The railroad said the Potomac Public Service Co., over which it assumed control recently, is developing the plans at an office in Arlington, Va.

The new facility would be available to all shippers of fuel supplies to the major airports.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's right of way would be used for portions of the proposed pipeline system. It would run approximately 80 miles from the Curtis Bay area south of Baltimore to the Dulles International Airport being built at Chantilly, Va.

The railroad contemplates the pipeline also serving Friendship Airport on the outskirts of Baltimore, the Washington National Airport and Andrews Air Force Base.

Ex-Miss Pa. Weds Ensign

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A blind date at the Miss America pageant last September ended at the altar here Monday as Priscilla Hendricks became Mrs. Wallace Benjamin.

The 20-year-old blonde beauty, until Saturday the reigning Miss Pennsylvania, married Benjamin, a newly-commissioned ensign, in a simple ceremony in the main chapel at the U.S. Naval Academy.

The young couple met when Benjamin, as a member of the midshipman's glee club, was assigned as escort to Miss Hendricks during the contest at Atlantic City, N.J., last year.

Miss Hendricks, from Shillington, Pa., and Benjamin became engaged on Jan. 14. They had intended to be married immediately upon Benjamin's graduation June 7, but had to delay their plans until Miss Hendricks crowned a successor as Miss Pennsylvania.

The bride had only one attendant — Miss Elizabeth Avery of Springfield, Pa. Benjamin's best man was his brother, Carl, of Scranton, Pa.

Insurance Company Appeals To Court

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Lynchburg, Va., life insurance company appealed Monday in Superior Court the threatened revocation of its license in Maryland by the state insurance commissioner.

Commissioner F. Douglass Sears had notified the First Colony Life Insurance Co. he would not renew its annual license on July 1. Sears based his notice on what he considered unethical practices by agents of the company.

Lawrence F. Rodowsky, assistant attorney general, said Monday that recent conferences have resulted in extension of the company's license temporarily for July.

He said further discussions may lead to renewal for the entire year which would result in dropping of the court challenge by the company.

Court papers showed that First Colony has 35 agents in Maryland and that it has sold $2 million worth of life insurance in the state since its original license in 1957.

Robber Gets $6,000

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP)—West Germany will buy $120 million worth of Pershing medium range missiles from The Martin Co., the Baltimore Evening Sun reported Monday.

The order, to be announced later by the government in Bonn, will replace one cancelled last April, the Evening Sun said. West Germany had ordered Mace guided missiles from Martin and cancelled it at request of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Pershing uses solid fuel so it may be ignited and fired quicker than the Mace which is powered by liquid. The lighter Pershing also is more mobile. The two-stage rocket can be set for ranges from 50 to 700 miles.

GAMBRILLS (AP)—Eight persons were hospitalized, one in critical condition, after a spectacular collision of a tractor-trailer and a passenger car at Dorris Corner Monday.

Margie Ann Shelton of Baltimore, one of six occupants of the car, was reported in critical condition with possible internal injuries.

All of the other five occupants of the car and two occupants of the trucks were hospitalized.

Anne Arundel County Trooper Oliver Ballam said the accident occurred when the brakes on the car, driven by 28-year-old Edward Praileau Jr. of Baltimore, failed and the vehicle moved into the northbound path of the truck.

The truck, loaded with cucumbers, ran directly over the top of the car, pinning it underneath and carrying the trapped occupants with it in a 20-foot slide, Ballam reported. The truck overturned on the shoulder of the road. The accident occurred at the intersection of Routes 3 and 178 at Dorris Corner.

BALTIMORE (AP)—An open manhole can be dangerous — even when you're not walking across it.

Charles Freeman, an employee of the Baltimore Gas and Electric Co., looked out of a manhole Monday and saw someone tampering with a parked car. He returned underground, and tapped a cable to telephone police.

Charles Smith, 26, of Baltimore, was arrested and charged with larceny from an automobile.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The 25th annual convention of the Maryland Law Enforcement Officers opened Monday with a memorial service and a day-long crab feast.

Several hundred policemen, representing every branch of law enforcement in Maryland, were expected to attend the silver anniversary meeting.

A business session, a banquet and a cabaret dance are scheduled for Tuesday.

uled for Tuesday.

BALTIMORE (AP)—A valuable coin collection was among the items reported missing after a $3,442 burglary at the home of a 50-year-old Baltimore salesman.

Morris Sopher told police someone broke into his home while he attended his son's wedding Saturday night.

Frederick family discovers telephone saves $9.55—gives 11 hours extra time—in two-week period

Linda Barrick enjoys her turn to talk with Dad, who's out-of-town on business.

Mrs. Samuel Barrick, at our request, recently completed a two-week "diary" of all her family's telephone calls. Where appropriate, she also estimated the amounts of time, traveling and money saved, by being able to phone.

At the end of two weeks, the Barricks' savings totaled $9.55, 11 hours and 214 miles of traveling!

Mrs. Barrick goes on to say that, in addition to these savings, "Some things just couldn't have been done if we didn't have a telephone . . . we'd certainly be lost without it."

Perhaps you'd like to see what your telephone does for you. Chances are you'll find, like Mrs. Barrick, that your telephone service gives much more than it costs.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Handsome much I liked his movie "Fanny" Peter Shaw, Angela Lansbury's husband, will move to MGM on July 10 as executive assistant to Benny Thau and Sol Siegel. He has been chosen to take the post vacated by Marvin Schenk when he retired.

Peter has been an important cog in the wheel of the William Morris Agency and he is leaving this company to return to the studio where he started as an actor in 1946 after being a colonel in the British army.

Angela and Peter have been married almost 14 years and have three children. Although both are English born, they are now American citizens.

It is almost as difficult to reach Ava Gardner as it is to reach the moon, but writer Ed Anhalt, an old friend of Ava's, has promised to telephone her this weekend in behalf of Harold Hecht. Ed will give Ava a pitch about starring in Harold's film version of the Irvin Shaw novel "Lucy Crown."

I am told that Ava has grown so wealthy from real estate investments in Rome and Madrid that she has become as much of a financier as an actress. She has wisely used all that loot from the nine year MGM contract she recently completed and which paid her approximately a half million dollars a year.

Bob Ryan, who has been playing a fascinatingly evil character in "Billy Budd" with Peter Ustinov, writes me from Alicante, Spain, that he is taking a flying trip back to Hollywood to see his wife, Jessica, and the three children. "Then," says Bob, "I will visit Ireland, land of my ancestors, and see some relatives in County Tipperary."

The "Billy Budd" company finishes location work in the Mediterranean on July 2 and flies to London for five or six weeks of interiors. Bob will join them in London after his visit to Ireland and Hollywood.

Again I told Josh Logan how

DIVIDEND TIME

This Association has declared a semi-annual dividend at the rate of 4% per annum on all savings shares, which will be credited to all savings account books on June 30, 1961. This is nothing new, but has been done regularly twice a year, every year, since 1940. This period of time covers "good times", "bad times", and war and peace, but the dividend has never varied.

Dividends must be earned before they can be paid, and through careful and efficient management this Association has not only earned these dividends, but has built up reserves to near the legal limit.

Let stockings guard your feet against grime and contact with rough sticky shoe linings.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Cheat The Heat—In Stocking Feet

Contrary to the universal impulse to shed stockings on sweltering days, there's more cool comfort for overheated feet when those neglected nylons are WORN.

A group of New York doctors announced these findings recently: Tiny blood vessels in the feet dilate during warm weather, which causes heat to be expelled from the feet. Consequently, the feet swell.

Stockings, they claim, can absorb some of that escaping heat. The result is that the swelling of the feet is reduced. So, stockings in summer now possess three virtues — good insulation, better protection for tender toes and soles, and best for a well-groomed appearance. (There is a lot to be said for bare feet and for socks — but not all of it is complimentary. With tapered "skinny pants," for example, socks both look and feel extremely awkward, even on slim young things.)

Fortunately, hosiery manufacturers have come up with a practical compromise in summer leg coverings — elastic-top stockings in all lengths, from knee-high to thigh-high, both seamless and full-fashioned.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Here's a tip about the romance between Andy Williams and dancer Claudine Longet. Claudine, who bowed out of the Folies Bergere in Las Vegas, is going home to Paris, but Andy is following her in three weeks to meet the family.

Carol Lynley, who recently exchanged her exclusive contract at 20th for a non-exclusive for one picture a year, will have Freddie Fields as her manager, and he's good — witness Judy Garland.

At Gypsy Rose Lee's Las Vegas Theatre opening she will show her home movies which will include shots of such celebrities as Alice Faye, Janet Gaynor, Corinne Griffith, Marion Davies and others.

Marion Davies, by the way, is better following the injury to her leg.

Bob Preston requested that he be allowed to take away from "The Music Man" the pair of green dancing shoes he wears in his role. The request is being granted.

Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows, who have been so successful at the Edgewater Beach Theatre in "Four Poster Bed," will stay on for two more weeks.

One of the best hotel men in the country, Gus Lampe, has brought the Arizona Manor Hotel in Phoenix with Gisele MacKenzie. They are now auditioning talent.

Take your choice, according to the length of your skirts and the cut of your sports costumes. Thanks to those built-in garters, you're free to take advantage of garterless summerweight foundations like stretch briefs or panty girdles.

This is an inspired way to keep cool and enjoy unrestricted convenience — without sacrificing chic. And think how stockings will save wear and tear on those tender feet!

Set a little bit of summer aside for the sake of happier feet — and prettier legs. Try the graceful step-exercises I describe in my pamphlet, "Dance Through a Week to Beauty." They'll help you to attain the grace and control you need to conquer weakness and fatigue when busy summer activities keep you on your feet constantly.

You may obtain a copy of this pamphlet by sending your request to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, enclosing 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Please wait two weeks for delivery.

Value Of Parking Study Outlined To Council

An explanation of the value of a traffic and parking study to the business section of a city was presented at a public meeting yesterday in the City Hall, with an overflow of interested persons in attendance.

The speaker was Donald M. McNeil of Pittsburgh, an engineer who specializes in the field of parking. The meeting was requested by the Retail Merchants Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Harry Kaufman, local attorney and businessman, who was chairman of the public meeting, explained that the merchants had requested the meeting with the Mayor and Council so they could hear McNeil explain how other cities and communities faced traffic and parking problems similar to Cumberland's.

McNeil stated that his firm would conduct a preliminary survey at a cost of $5,500 that would not only point out specific instances of how and where parking is needed, but also make recommendations of how the problem best can be solved.

Parking has become "big business," the Pittsburgh engineer stated, adding that unless adequate parking is provided for patrons business will "die."

Advocating the creation of a municipal Parking Authority, McNeil said such an organization is not costly and can work speedily and smoothly in stabilizing the business section of a community.

"We are a lazy race today," the parking engineer said, explaining that all too frequently both young and old use automobiles to travel only a few blocks. Studies conducted by his firm, he continued, show that the matter of only a few feet can mean a great difference in the earning power of a parking lot.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said it was the intent of council to refer the proposition to the Planning and Zoning Commission for study and recommendation.

At this, Kaufman said the meeting had not been called with the intent of requesting the city for any specific legislation, but asked only that the Mayor and Council study the information presented by McNeil and then decide on what action is deemed necessary.

Questioned on possible conflict between private ownership of parking lots and municipal lots, McNeil said it generally has increased on all such facilities after problems have been corrected.

Merchants, realtors, banking officials and interested individuals formed the standing-room-only crowd in attendance.

Just prior to the close of the meeting at noon, Kaufman said that it was not the intent to have the city pay $5,500 for a parking survey. He said merchants have several alternatives to be presented, one of which is that if the city should advance the money it would be repaid.

It was contemplated, he added, that merchants would underwrite the proposal and "I think they want to do that," he said.

Local business leaders lunched with McNeil at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Kaufman invited any interested person to meet with McNeil again after the luncheon at which time questions concerning the parking proposal would be answered.

Soapy-looking water found in deep salt mines under Detroit has been there an estimated 300 million years.

Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♦

Caution paid off for South, declarer in today's hand, as he braced himself against the worst of all trump breaks. The bidding diagram, however, would appear to be at variance with the character sketch we drew of South in our opening remark, for caution did not seem to be his watchword here.

While the scientific touch is lacking in the auction, we have no criticism to make of his treatment. East's preemptive call prevented a completely relaxed bidding sequence and the slam appears to be a reasonable commitment.

The opening diamond lead was taken with the ace and declarer ruffed a diamond with the ace of hearts and returned a trump to the ten. If West wins the trick he can make no damaging return.

If he refuses the trick declarer ruffs his last diamond and returns to his hand with a spade, and then proceeds to drive out the king of trumps. When West chooses to take his king there is no lead he can make which will inflict pain upon the declarer.

After drawing trumps declarer has the spade suit to run for more tricks than he needs.

The chosen line of play will succeed against any four-one trump break, or against a five-nothing break provided West holds all the trumps. If East has five hearts, which is most unlikely since he preempted in diamonds, there is no way to make the hand.

Ann Landers . . . Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann I'm in a difficult spot and I need a clear head, which at the moment, mine isn't.

Two years ago my husband asked for a divorce so he could marry a little nothing he'd been seeing for years. In exchange for his freedom agreed to take the house, the car, our joint bank account and I tied him up financially for life. We have two daughters 17 and 15.

Several months ago I met Jim. He's a terrific man. My girls like him and we have fun together. Jim spends weekends with us and we take short trips. We want to get married but it would mean the end of the alimony which is just too beautiful. Jim could never take care of us like this.

The neighbors are beginning to ask the girls ugly questions. Should I get married to quiet the wagging tongues? To be frank, I've got everything just the way I want it right now—BUFF.

Dear Buff: A woman who carries on in this shameless manner in view of her daughters, friends and neighbors earns every word of the ugly talk.

That "beautiful" alimony is pretty expensive. If you've got a cash-box for a conscience and macaroni where your morals belong, just keep on doing what you're doing.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 15 and I have a unique problem. You say a girl should always introduce her date to her parents. Well—I'd love to, but my folks don't want to be bothered.

Mom and dad are always in the sun parlor reading the newspaper and watching TV when the fellow arrives. They keep the door closed because Dad likes to sit in his suspenders with his shoes off and Mom isn't "dressed to meet company." I have to shout "Good-bye" when I leave.

I've dated one fellow dozens of times and he has never seen my parents. He has even mentioned it. I'm proud of Mom and Dad and I don't care if they're dressed up or not. I'd like my friends to meet them. What can I do about this? ORPHAN WITH PARENTS. ENTS

Dear Orphan: You sound like a gal with very good sense. Now let's see if we can educate your parents.

Tell them you are proud of them—shoes off, suspenders in full view, house dress and all. Insist that the next young man who takes you out be permitted to meet your parents. It will be like getting olives out of the bottle. After the first one—the rest will be easy.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a widow with an invalid mother. The man I've been going with says he loves me. He bought me a diamond ring last year.

The trouble is I refuse to leave my mother unless a competent person is with her. She's hard to get along with and there's only one woman with whom mother is comfortable. She's available every ten days.

My fiancé will not stay at home with me and mother more than a couple of evenings a week. He likes movies, plays, friends and outside activities. Should I drop him?—HANNAH

Dear Hannah: The mystery is why he hasn't dropped YOU. Find other sitters for a conscience and be a part of this man's life. One day your mother will be gone and you'll have to hire someone to sit with YOU.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mr. Khrushchev Rattles A Saber

Whatever President Kennedy accomplished by his journey to Vienna, he did not succeed in persuading Premier Khrushchev that it would be dangerous to increase the tension in Soviet-American relations. Or, at any rate, Khrushchev is quite ready to accept the risk of building up the tension to a new peak.

The spectacle Khrushchev put on at Moscow was a deliberate exercise in saber-rattling. The occasion was in itself a special one and he underlined his words by appearing in the uniform of a Russian lieutenant general and wearing all his medals.

His audience had gathered to commemorate the twentieth anniversary of the German attack on Russia in World War II. The purpose was to celebrate the Russian victory in the "great patriotic war," and apparently to stir up fears of a new German attack—impossible as that may be now or in the foreseeable future. The purpose was also to belittle the major part the Allies played in breaking the power of Hitler's Germany.

Against this background Khrushchev's renewed threat to make a separate pact with East Germany if the Western powers will not enter a peace treaty with the two Germans took on a note of deeper menace. He made the time limit more specific—the separate treaty will be a fact by the end of this year unless the West meets his demand.

Khrushchev had more to say on other issues, equally belligerent. He threatened destruction of the "imperialist aggressors" by nuclear rockets if war comes.

So the world is again in a crisis that Khrushchev intends to build up between now and the end of the year in order to get what he wants. One thing is sure, and that is that it will do no good to show any sign of uncertainty or fear. Weakness will only encourage the man who threatens mankind with destruction almost daily.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Stoppage At Missile Bases

We start with the premise that a nation has a moral and a legal right to defend itself against its enemies within and without. The question is: Who is an enemy?

When a nation regards its security imperilled to the degree that it spends $40,000,000,000 a year for its defense, an enemy is anyone who endangers that defense.

In the United States, labor possesses rights by law which are designed to limit the authority of the employer over the employee so that human dignity is not impaired. Thus, the right to strike is inviolate. In the United States, the worker has the right to strike when the government is the employer.

In the development of the missile and the rocket, the government employs a variety of workers who belong to unions, enjoy the right of collective bargaining and who are entitled to strike. The fact is that such a strike could imperil the defenses of the United States and might result in the loss of life in time of war. The significance of this program was stated by General William T. Thurman to be:

"The only effective deterrent to a surprise nuclear attack is a mixed force including advanced aircraft, missiles, and space weapons which are capable of repelling and defeating the military forces of potential enemies and at the same time minimizing the damage to our forces, our Nation, and its people."

He then provided the following information: "The total dollars currently programmed for ICBM's add up to nearly $12 billion for research, development, test, production, and supporting facilities, and site activation. Approximately 55 separate corporate groups, individual companies, and joint ventures are working directly for the Air Force and the Corps of Engineers.

"These contractors employ over 100,000 people on the program. This number pertains only to prime and associate contractors. A total figure of all companies and employees working on the overall program would include literally thousands of subcontractors and vendors in lower tiers and their hundreds of thousands of employees.

"Organized labor is represented by approximately 30 different unions, industrial and construction."

In a tabulation of figures, General Thurman showed that from the start of construction in 1958, 1959, 1960 through March 13, 1961, there were 195 strikes, involving 50,550 man-days lost at operational sites alone. More than half of this loss is due to organizational efforts and negotiations for new collective bargaining agreements, as though the men were working in a pants factory. The government is involved in jurisdictional disputes among labor unions which grow increasingly more serious as new inventions, devices and material are used. In fact, the question might be asked whether Russia's advantage of time has not, in a measure, been due to the time losses.

Involved in all new work is the jurisdictional question as to whether a particular job is industrial or construction work. This not only involves different unions but also different rates of pay. The Secretary of Labor decides the rate of pay; therefore he ipso facto selects the union involved in the particular job.

The Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations of which Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas is chairman, seeks to discover what the work stoppages on our missile and rocket bases amount to and how costly and dangerous they are to the United States.

General Thurman made this very important explanation of the situation:

"... overtime costs more because of higher wage rates and decreased efficiency and, in such a situation, finding the right balance of work schedules, employment practices, and other factors is a difficult matter. We have found that some generally accepted employment practices affecting overtime costs are not always easily adapted to the unique labor requirements of our construction program at Patrick. Thus, the establishment of 'normal hours of work' and the requirement that overtime rates apply to any work outside the 'normal hours' add to the premium cost of multishift work."

World War I and II were won in the factories of this country. We out-produced the enemy. During this Cold War period, our enemy has equalled and even bettered our production and when a study is made of the evidence, it becomes clear that the labor situation is a big factor in our troubles.

To the worker, a job involves a union and union rules. To the United States, this is a question of survival. A strike at Cape Canaveral might destroy this nation.

Berlin Crisis Is A Gigantic Bluffing Contest

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Artificiality over the Berlin issue prevails on both sides.

When Nikita Khrushchev dresses himself up in a soldier suit of the rank of lieutenant - general and makes a speech full of hints of war, Secretary of State Rusk calls it "sabre-rattling," which it probably is.

Similarly, when the West carries out a military demonstration by its troops in Berlin that's called a routine "alert," the Soviets know this is done for effect, too.

Basically, neither side really believes that the other is going to war as a consequence of the Berlin issue. But the Soviet Premier knows that, if he signs a peace treaty with East Germany, the initiative afterward in a military action will have to come from the Western allies. The mere signing of a treaty between the Soviet Union and East Germany's so-called "republic" isn't an act of war or a threat of war. But if the East German government, at the behest of Moscow, starts interfering some day with the routes of access to West Berlin, military force could be used by the Western allies to protect the transportation of any supplies or the movements of their forces to and from the city.

So a huge bluffing match is going on. Each side wants to impress the other that it means business. President Kennedy comes back from his talks with the Soviet Premier in Vienna and uses the word "somber." The briefings here to the press are characterized by words that convey a feeling of gravity and deep concern. But Secretary Rusk then tells his news conference that, while Khrushchev's latest speech is a "keen disappointment," he would hardly regard the Communist utterance as the most serious threat since World War II.

Somehow the idea that any shooting war will come of it all seems at this moment to be somewhat illusory. There isn't the mobilization for war on either side that would naturally precede the kind of crisis being envisaged in so many press dispatches and in television commentaries today.

The real debate is in the court of world opinion. The Soviet Premier knows this and is trying to make his proposed program with respect to Berlin seem a part of an effort merely to bring about a "reunification" of Germany — something he really doesn't want. What he does want is to embarrass the West and divert attention from other areas of the world where the Communists are infiltrating.

The Western allies, on the other hand, feel firmly grounded in their contention that the Berlin issue involves a matter of good faith and the honoring of agreements made when World War II came to an end.

Evidently the Soviet Premier is well aware of the double role played by the Communists in that war. His latest speech was made on the occasion of the twentieth anniversary of Hitler's attack on the Soviets — June 22, 1941 — after the Communists had given him military assistance for the first 22 months of World War II. The Soviets — as Hitler's ally — thus helped to protect the Nazi armies from attacks which could otherwise have kept them very busy on a front in Eastern Europe. As it was, the Nazi dictator was given a free hand to overrun Holland and Belgium and to attack France and Great Britain in Western Europe. France could not have been conquered if there had been an Eastern Front to give battle to Hitler's armies. In fact, World War II might never have occurred if the Communist government in Moscow had not double-crossed Britain and France and made an alliance with Hitler just a few weeks before he TOO STRENUOUS? — President Kennedy's back injury had some of his intimates concerned — not because it is serious, but because it underlines the killing pace at which he has been operating since entering the White House. The youthful Chief Executive, with a fine disregard for his health, has been putting on a marathon performance for more than four months, and it is beginning to show. He looks tired, has gained an unhealthy amount of weight, and, some say, shows signs of irritability.

One way to ease Kennedy's burdens, according to those around the White House, is to have him cut down on his purely ceremonial functions. There has been a stream of delegations, visiting groups, and foreign dignitaries, all making demands on the President's energies and time.

Kennedy is being urged to reduce this burden by delegating this role to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and others in his official family. So far, he has resisted the idea, but his back injury, which threw him on crutches and caused him to cancel his appearances at some really important events, may be forcing him to change his mind.

The argument being used is that his key role in world and domestic events is being jeopardized by his inability to say "no" to requests of a minor nature, and that he owes it to the country to conserve himself for the important events. His doctor, Janet Travell, is the principal employer of convincing him in the weeks ahead.

More About The New Oral Polio Vaccines

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The new oral polio vaccine is made from live viruses. The organisms are so weakened (tamed) they do not cause polio after being swallowed. On the other hand, they are strong enough to set up housekeeping in the intestinal tract, where immunity is produced.

This vaccine has been used by millions of people here and abroad. Dr. Albert Sabin, who developed one of the vaccines at the University of Cincinnati college of medicine, estimates that more than 77 million Russians and an additional 23 millions elsewhere have been given his product, with no mishaps. Similar results were reported by Dr. Hilary Koprowski and Dr. Harold Cox, who have made the other two oral vaccines.

In the United States, all we need is the green light from the division of biologics of the National Institutes of Health. This agency is being overly cautious because of criticism caused by the premature licensing of the Salk vaccine.

This is understandable because we are dealing with live viruses and the vaccine must be safe — consistently. This is a problem when vaccines are made by mass production and a slight contamination or miscalculation may lead to a batch that is unsafe or too weak to be of value.

The division of biologics has strict license requirements and each batch undergoes several tests. No manufacturer will be permitted to sell a product until he can produce five successive batches that meet safety requirements.

When the vaccine is foolproof we should be able to obtain satisfactory protection by swallowing it. The vaccine is given in three separate doses, spaced four to six weeks apart. A fourth dose may be necessary.

Kennedy Keeps Sense Of Humor As Catholics Oppose School Plan

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy, who has a sense of humor even in adversity, made this wise-crack during the height of the Catholic hierarchy's opposition to his school-aid bill:

"When Al Smith was defeated for the Presidency, he is reported to have sent a one-word cable to the Pope: 'Unpack.'"

"In view of all this Catholic furor over aid-to-education, I think I shall send a one-word cable to the Pope: 'Pack.'"

The furor at that time was all on the Catholic side. It was open and public. Today the furor is smoldering on the Protestant side and it is beginning to come out in public.

Another showdown over aid-to-education is scheduled for the House Rules Committee today or tomorrow, and as Protestant and Catholic Congressmen line up to vote, some of them rather bitterly, they will have the following important record before them.

An Important Record

President Kennedy on March 1 took a clear-cut, unequivocal stand against any federal aid to Catholic schools. In his press conference on that date, he said: "The Constitution clearly prohibits aid . . . to the parochial school . . . The Supreme Court has made that very clear."

This brought praise from Protestants, including those who had been frankly skeptical about Kennedy's pledge to keep church and state separate. But it brought a storm of criticism from leaders of his own faith.

Earlier, Cardinal Spellman, whose charities long had benefited from Kennedy family donations, issued bitter attacks against the Kennedy task force plans for aid-to-education. On January 17, he blasted the Kennedy program as unfair to parochial schools; repeated the criticism on February 9, had read from all Catholic pulpits in New York on February 26 an attack on the Kennedy program by Bishop James Navagh of northern New York.

After Kennedy made his March 1 statement, the Catholic attacks increased. Even on that same day, Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati, speaking for the entire hierarchy, issued a blast against the Kennedy program and decreed that the church would oppose it unless it contained aid for parochial schools.

Cardinal Spellman came back with another attack on March 13, and next day Msgr. Frederic J. Hochwalt, of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, re-emphasized Catholic opposition and officially went on record against separate legislation for public schools and Catholic schools.

This was in answer to a Kennedy press conference appeal to Catholics on March 8 that they not let the parochial school issue kill aid-to-education, and that any proposal for loans to parochial schools be handled separately.

Change Of Tactics

By this time, Catholic hierarchy criticism against the first Catholic President had become so strong that many lay Catholics resented it, and expressed criticism of their own church leaders. There were warnings that the Catholic clergy might make the mistake of the clergy in Italy where the population, though Catholic, is partly anticlerical.

It was at this point that the hierarchy, worried over the reaction, dropped its criticism, and Cardinal Spellman adopted a new strategy. Congressman Herb Zelenko, Manhattan Democrat, who is Jewish, was persuaded to amend the aid-to-education bill to include loans to build parochial schools — if those schools were for the teaching of subjects important to national defense — mathematics, science, and foreign languages.

And the harassed President, despite his previously strong stand, accepted this compromise. There was very little publicity about it. But the President's pre-election pledge obviously was hedged, and Protestant churchmen are now saying: "I told you so."

It was at this point that Sen. Wayne Morris of Oregon warned Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Ribicoff that it would be impossible to tie the Cardinal Spellman compromise into the aid-to-education bill. To do so would kill the entire education package. Ribicoff agreed, and two separate bills were prepared.

However, the warning of Monsignor Hochwalt of the National Catholic Welfare Conference on March 14 has now come to be Congressional policy, thanks to the long and potent arm of Congressman John McCormack of Boston and two Catholic members of the Rules Committee, Jim Delaney of Brooklyn and Tip O'Neill of Boston.

Both are fine Congressmen, both have excellent records of working for their fellow men, both have constantly bucked the Dixiecrat - Republican coalition. But last week they lined up with those who have battled against a Catholic in the White House to block the public school bill until the parochial school bill was considered.

"I never thought I'd see the day when Jim and Tip would join the coalition of Republicans and Dixiecrats," remarked Rep. Ray Madden of Indiana, himself a Catholic. "It's the strangest alliance I have witnessed in all my days in Congress. The next thing you know, they'll be getting together on civil rights."

Thus the policy first proposed by Cardinal Spellman last January and February has pretty much come to pass.

Yale Strikes Back

By John Crosby

Yale's Class of '36 left college in the middle of a perfectly awful depression, said the news story, and had done marvelously well by itself. Average income: $50,000. Good heavens! Total savings, $82,770,000. Jove! (One Yale '36 reported his savings at $14,000,000.)

As a member of the Yale class of '36, all I can say is that the news story left me proud but depressed. I'm afraid I haven't been pulling my oar. There's hardly anywhere along the line that I don't dip well of the average. Total savings of $2 million, divided by 552 members of my class, comes to . . . Great balls of fire! $120,000! Last time I looked at my own savings account it was — well, I think my total assets added up to minus a couple of thou. A man hates to pull the class average down. If they hadn't had me in there as a dead weight, heaven knows where the class might have soared.

All the way down the line, I'm in there dragging down the statistics. Each member of the class owns 1.9, or almost two cars. Well, I don't own any car and without me the class might have made an even two-car outfit. On the average each one has one servant and each reads 25 books a year. Well, I flunk out on the servant category but I pull the average up a bit on the books. I read a hell of a lot of books.

Actually, I'm happy to see Yale striking back. It hasn't been a good year for Yale. Harvard has that Man in the White House. Him and his whole class practically. The Harvards have been running off with the headlines.

This little news story sounded as if Yale wanted it known that the reason it didn't have a man in the White House was that its graduates didn't run for office much. Too busy making money.

Actually, the class of '36 has done awfully well financially. But let's face it, it started out awfully rich. One of my classmates was Peter Grace, who is president of W. R. Grace & Co. which includes Grace Lines. Two days after the story broke, another classmate, William Rand, was named president of the United States Lines. The class is doing all right in shipping.

In publishing there is Bill Block of the "Pittsburgh Post Gazette." Among the writers John Hersey, Stewart Alsop, and Brendan Gill. Among the tycoons the most unexpected was Neisen "Wishbone" Harris who invented Toni Home Permanent and sold out for 22 million dollars.

But what I find heartening is not the rich and the famous but those who carry after their names the symbol "edt" (Education-teaching). It's nice to know some of the boys are returning a little seed to the ground. In that category I read in the alumni directory Prof. Walt W. Rostow at M. I. T. (now a special assistant to President Kennedy which at least gives us a man close to the White House); William E. Sullivan at Taft School; and Norris Hoyt—we were on the freshman swimming team together — at St. George's School in Newport.

There are an encouraging number of "meds" (medicine) after the names, a great many "law," and I think probably too many "adv." The class does seem to have scattered to the four winds—Honolulu, Havana, Turkey, Saudi Arabia — to say nothing of Kankakee and Houston.

Will the Class of '61 do as well? One hurdle the Class of '61 has already mounted was getting into Yale in the first place. It was never exactly easy. But then I can't pretend that it was anywhere near as difficult to get into the Class of '36 as it was to get into the Class of '61 or '62. It's almost easier to get into the U. S. Senate.

The great hurdle then was not getting into Yale but getting a job after you got out. We expected to work very hard for very little money because that's the way things were. I rather suspect today's class expects to have the brass ring handed to it on a platter. For that very reason it may come a cropper.

We expected nothing but the worst and consequently all surprises were agreeable ones.

Two Prisoners Escape From Charles Town Jail

CHARLES TOWN, W.Va. (AP) — Two prisoners escaped from the Jefferson County Jail Monday after overpowering two trustees.

One of the trustees, Harry Breeden, about 60, of Charles Town, was severely beaten about the head and face. He was admitted to Charles Town General Hospital.

Police in West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland were alerted to watch for the two escapees, identified as Raymond Housden, about 40, of Ranson, W. Va., and Samuel Berry, 27, of Shenandoah Junction, near here.

Housden had been in jail here several months on a charge of violating penitentiary parole. Berry was jailed June 20 on a forgery charge.

Housden and Berry escaped from a "bull pen" area where prisoners are fed. Authorities said the two men called to a trustee, Floyd Ball of Princeton, W. Va., in an adjoining waiting room and told him to open a door so they could hand out a basket of trash. When Ball opened the door, authorities said, Berry grabbed him and Housden rushed Breeden, who was also in the waiting room, knocked him down and kicked him. Housden and Berry then ran out the front door.

The two escapees were last seen near the Norfolk and Western Railroad tracks. Police immediately put up roadblocks in the area.

A black and white cartoon illustration. A dog is sitting in a small wooden wheelbarrow, which is being pushed by a cat. The dog is holding a small object in its mouth. The cat is walking behind the wheelbarrow, pushing it forward. To the right of the wheelbarrow, there is a hedge trimmer lying on the ground. The background is simple, with some lines suggesting a yard or garden. The cartoon is signed 'Jeff Smith' in the bottom right corner.

State Officials Begin Plans For Park Areas

Hold Meeting Here, Will Tour Sites

Officials of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks and the State Roads Commission met here last night to make a preliminary survey for proposed parks and recreation areas along U.S. Route 40.

Under a bill introduced by Delegate William Walsh and passed by the General Assembly in March 1959, the SRC was authorized to purchase land along Route 40 for 10 recreation areas.

Last night's meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel was held to start work on the selection of these areas.

"Great Potential" Seen

Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Department of Forests and Parks in Annapolis, viewed the SRC maps of the proposed Route 40, and said this part of the state has a "great potential" for overlooks, campsites and picnic grounds.

He added the state wants to make Route 40 safer for travel, and the new recreation sites also will make that travel more interesting.

"City people from the population belt along the eastern coast will be afforded ample stops in this area as they move to the various vacation spots," Mr. Kaylor said.

The proposed recreation areas will be located between Hancock and the Pennsylvania line in Garrett County. The group that attended last night's meeting will make the trip along this section today to view some of the spots discussed at the preliminary session.

No Definite Dates

No date was set for completion of any of the sites, but officials hope that at least one of the new areas will be in operation by early fall of 1962.

Mr. Walsh's bill for authorization of land acquisition by the SRC for the recreation areas provides that each site would not exceed 10 acres.

Under the law governing the sites, all property acquired by the SRC would be conveyed to the Department of Forests and Parks at no cost and the department would have the responsibility of developing and controlling the recreation areas.

State officials believe the new recreation areas will attract many more tourists and travelers to use this section of Route 40.

Also attending last night's meeting besides Mr. Kaylor were Mr. Walsh; John J. McMullen, a member of the State Roads Commission; LeRoy C. Moser, Baltimore, chief right of way engineer for the SRC; Carl E. Wyant Jr., of the SRC, chief, property management section in Baltimore; Henry F. Frederick, Cumberland, District SRC right of way engineer; Carroll Richardson, Baltimore, chief, government acquisition section of the SRC, and Roland M. Thompson, Baltimore, assistant engineer in location and survey for the SRC.

County Dwelling Permits Issued

Two new building permits for dwellings which the builders say will cost a total of $14,500 to construct were issued yesterday by the office of the clerk to the county commissioners.

Merle R. Collins, RFD 3, Bedford Road, obtained a permit to build a 24 by 36-foot brick veneer dwelling for $8,000 some 500 feet from Bedford Road in Election District 5.

New Drivers Will Pay More For Learners Permits

BALTIMORE (AP) — Learner's permits for Maryland motorists will cost $5, beginning Saturday. The $4 increase, expected to raise about $600,000 a year, will finance an expanded program of driver education in state high schools.

The special fund will be under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Education.

Under the bill enacted by the 1961 General Assembly, driver education instruction would be elective for students. Local school systems will decide individually whether or not they want to offer the course.

The bill was enacted after Gov. Tawes gave it a strong endorsement late in the session. The measure had failed five times previously in recent years.

Four wills were admitted to probate in Allegany County Orphans Court.

One was the last testament of Luther Bennett, who was an 86-year-old resident of 717 Bedford Street at the time of his death June 11. He bequeathed $1,000 to First Baptist Church of which he was a member.

The Liberty Trust Company qualified as executor of the estate under a $500 bond. He left his household goods and furniture to Mrs. Grace Garland of Buffalo Mills, Pa., and his carpenters tools to Robert Garland, also of Buffalo Mills.

Also probated was the will of Miss Margaret A. Wilson, who was a 73-year-old resident of LaVale when she died June 8. Her niece, Miss Margaret W. Moses, 700 Braddock Avenue, LaVale, qualified as executrix under a $500 bond. She was the sole beneficiary under terms of the will dated February 1959.

Another will probated was that of Mrs. Isabel S. Diffendall, a former resident, who lived at Catonsville at the time of her death May 30. ## Businessmen Charged In License Case

Operated Without Obtaining Permits

Unusual charges have been placed against two local men for operating their businesses without licenses.

E. W. Humbertson, who operates Humbertson's Television Service at 1222 National Highway, LaVale, has been charged with failure to obtain a trader's license.

Allen M. Sell, 523 Greene Street, operator of the Allen M. Sell and Son Construction Company, has been charged with failure to obtain a construction business license.

The warrants for the two men were obtained last week from Magistrate Paul W. Barnett on the oath of Charles E. Floto, Maryland license inspector.

The two men will be given hearings Thursday at 10 a. m. in Trial Magistrate Court by Magistrate Barnett.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, said the penalty for both violations is a fine up to $100 or a jail sentence up to 30 days. An additional penalty of 10 per cent of the license fee for every month a business was operated without a trader's license also may be imposed.

The cost of a trader's license depends on the amount of stock and trade in a business. The minimum license fee is $15 for stock and trade under $1,000, and the fee is increased on a scale basis.

The fee for a construction business is fixed at $15.

Damage Issue Raised At B&O, C&O Hearing

Central Claims It Would Be Bankrupt

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The New York Central Railroad's contention that it may suffer grave damage from a proposed combine of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio systems Monday was introduced into an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing. The hearing is on rival bids by Central and C&O to control B&O.

Central attorney Robert D. Brooks used the terms destruction and bankruptcy in formally raising the damage issue for the first time in the week-old proceeding. The matter came up when the C&O offered Mayor Charles A. Mobley of Flint, Mich., as a witness.

Mobley said Flint, second largest city in Michigan, is behind the C&O application, adding: "If affiliation with the C&O will benefit the B&O, then Flint will benefit, too. We are interested in as strong a transportation system as we can get."

Threat Of Bankruptcy

Brooks asked the witness: "If this record shows that this combination will destroy New York Central, would your position be the same?"

"What do you mean by 'destruction'?" presiding examiner John L. Bradford asked.

"I mean if the proposal would bankrupt Central," the Central lawyer replied. "I want the witness to tell me if his position would be the same."

Mayor Mobley said that was a question he would have to refer back to the city commission, and then added:

"I think anyone would look with proper concern about the destruction of a railroad. I had not been advised about any possible destruction in this case."

Brooks said the questions he had raised would be developed later by the Central witnesses.

In the current proceeding, Central seeks to control B&O exclusively or be included in a joint control arrangement with the C&O.

Earlier, Brooks tangled with C&O senior vice president M. I. Dunn over repeated references to efficiency on the prosperous C&O system.

Competition Cited

Specifically, the Central lawyer attempted to show that the Norfolk & Western, C&O's chief competitor in the coal-hauling business, had better operating results.

The examiner ruled out questions along this line and Brooks commented that he "wanted to find out why C&O can't perform on a comparable basis with its principal competition."

Dunn replied by saying the C&O ranked 18th in mileage among the Class 1 railroads, ranked seventh in revenues, third in rail earnings, and fifth in net income in 1960.

Most of the day was spent in a Central inventory of improvements on the C&O during the last 10 years, in which Brooks asked for cost and investment return data. Most of this was promised at some later date.

California-Bound Cyclists Make Stop In Cumberland

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

Five weeks from now, if all goes well, two brothers who live in Frederick hope to pedal their English-made bicycles into sunny California.

Last evening Eric Olson, tall and lean at 16 years of age, and his brother, Nils, 12, who weighs about 95 pounds, arrived in Cumberland tired and weary after traveling about 90 miles from their home town.

They were given an assist by local police who made arrangements for them to stay at a hotel here. Eric plans to awaken his younger brother about 5 a.m. and the cyclists hope to be on the road an hour later in the cool of the morning.

An article Eric read in Boys Life which related how a 14-year-old boy pedaled across the nation gave him the idea to try it and see the West. His mother gave the two brothers permission to make the trip.

One of the biggest initial expenses was the purchase of new bicycles. They figure their trip will cost them "roughly" $350. They will use traveler's checks.

The boys are traveling as light as possible. Their gear includes a tarpaulin rigged up for sleeping outdoors, and a spare tube and a repair kit. Eric said he and Nils have had outdoor experience and "worked out" before starting on the trip.

They hope to sleep in YMCAs as much as possible and there will probably be times when they will sleep outdoors. When they arrived in Cumberland their mile gauges registered 100 miles. Eric said they had to pedal back and forth across the highway on some of the mountains.

They plan to travel on U.S. Route 40 from here and go through Columbus, Ohio, St. Louis, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, Reno, to San Francisco and Los Angeles, where after a visit to interesting places, they'll board a bus for the trip back home.

By bus they hope to see Las Vegas and the Grand Canyon, as well as other picturesque sights in the West. They plan on being home about a week before school starts in order to get rested up. Eric, who is an Eagle Scout, attends Frederick High School. His brother, who is a first class Scout, attends West Frederick Junior High.

When asked if his younger brother was having trouble keeping up with him, Eric remarked that Nils did at first but a re-shifting of the traveling gear gave him a lighter load to haul.

Liquor Store In Grantsville Location Is Set

Will Be Situated In WOW Building

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners took action yesterday which is expected to get the county going in the legal liquor business by next Monday, the eve of the Independence Day holiday.

Commissioner Fred B. Giotfelty said last night that the board decided to establish the Grantsville county liquor dispensary in the Woodmen of the World Building on U.S. Route 40. Ralph Giotfelty and Harry Bender were hired as the two clerks in the store there.

A final decision has not yet been reached on the location of the dispensary in Oakland. One of the problems there is that most of the business property in the county seat is located in Election District 14, which voted by the slim margin of two votes, 510 to 508, to remain legally "dry."

Six or seven applications already have been received by the county commissioners from restaurants and clubs for licenses to enable them to sell liquor by the drink.

Mr. Giotfelty said these applications must be advertised for two weeks and the county commissioners, sitting as a liquor board, must then hold a hearing on the applications. None of these licenses is expected to be granted before the third week in July.

Sale of whisky in four of Garrett County's 16 election districts was legalized by a referendum held last Wednesday. The districts which voted in favor of liquor are Districts 3, Grantsville; 7, East Oakland; 9, Finzel, and 15, Avilton. The 12 other districts voted to remain dry.

Motor Vehicle Fees Divided Eight Ways

While Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff and his staff are busy with the June rush to pay county real estate and personal property taxes, the collector took time off to distribute some $101,271 received from the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Allegany County and the seven incorporated towns in the county share in the receipts from the state motor vehicle license fees paid each March when most of the motorists acquire their new tags.

The comptroller for the Department of Motor Vehicles last week sent Mr. Orndorff a check for $101,271 to be split eight ways.

This distribution is figured on the basis of the residence of the owners of motor vehicles. The county gets to keep $71,449. The seven towns share the rest. Cumberland received $20,931.50; Frostburg, $3,825; Lonaconing, $1,528; Westernport, $2,433.50; Luke, $271; Barton, $476.50; Midland, $356.50. Meanwhile, Mr. Orndorff reported that his June tax collections through last Saturday totaled $1,780,323.46. That includes county, state and special taxing area receipts.

A five per cent discount is allowed on all county taxes paid on or before Friday, June 30. The tax collector's office will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. daily through Friday.

Only one more June visit outside of Cumberland remains. That is to the Westernport Town Hall from 10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Thursday.
